

Sensory Story Little Red Riding Hood

Lets turn Little Red Riding Hood into a Sensory Story...

Firstly, find a tray or a box or a bag to put inside the items for the story. Then, find items that match parts of the story. Here are some ideas:

- 1) Red Riding Hood – use a hood or a hat or a jumper (if you have a red one that would be great)
- 2) Basket – get a basket or a box or a bag and fill it in with some fruits or other food
- 3) Wolf – use anything that is furry. Even better if you have a wolf toy.
- 4) Wolf in bed – Use a blanket. Get under the blanket while Red Riding Hood is speaking to the grandmother/wolf in bed.
- 5) ‘All the better to hear you with’ – make a noise (shaker, bell, plastic bottle filled with dry food, hit a pan with a spoon etc.)
- 6) ‘All the better to see you with’ – look into a mirror or use a torch or any sensory toy with lights.
- 7) ‘All the better to eat you with’ – taste something.
- 8) ‘The woodcutter hit the wolf over the head’ – pat a cushion.

Now you have gathered everything you need. Use the objects as you read the story. Let your child explore the items.

Have fun 😊
