

Let's celebrate the time spent together

We are all spending lots more time than usual as a family together, so that's enjoy the opportunity and do fun things.

For today's topic why not create something to keep that will remind you of this time

How about making a family plaque? You could do this by:

- ✚ Creating handprints in salt dough and making a plaque.
- ✚ Make hand prints using paint and arrange them in an interesting way.
- ✚ Draw around each other's hands in different coloured paper or perhaps a newspaper with the date showing and mount them onto card.
- ✚ If you have a printer take photographs of things you have done together, print them off and arrange into a lockdown montage.

I have put the recipe for salt dough below, also a great maths activity!!

These are just a few ideas, perhaps you could come up with some of your own.

I would love to see them.

Pam

Salt Dough recipe:

500g plain flour

250g salt

250 ml water

Weigh the ingredients into a bowl and mix into a dough.

Roll out the dough to the shape you would like your plaque.

Press your hands into the dough.

Put onto a baking tray.

Bake in the oven on the lowest temperature for 3-4 hours.

When cool, paint and then varnish your plaque to seal it.

Here are a few pictures for ideas.

Salt Dough

Hand Painting

Paper hands

