English: Persuasive Writing

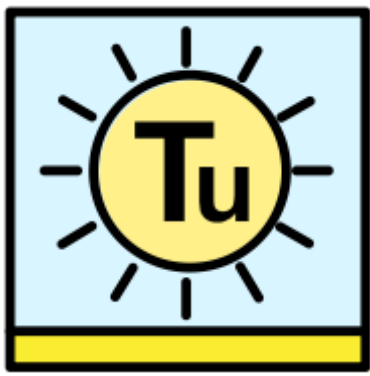

We would like you to design a poster to persuade your teacher that it is really important that everyone must wash their hands.

Here are some examples:

Ideas:

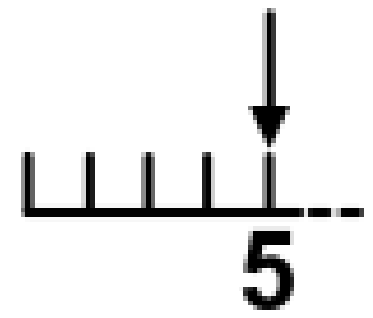

- Write at least one sentence explaining why you should wash your hands. For example, you might start your sentence with - You should wash your hands because...
- Please see 'Persuasive word bank' to help give you ideas.
- There is a 'Persuasive help sheet' that you may want to use to cut out and stick on your posters or you may use it to help you to spell some tricky words.
- You could make your poster on paper or a computer.

Hearing - Sounds you can make with containers:

- Collect different containers around your house.
- What sound do you hear when you take the top off? Is there a difference in sound depending on the size?
- Now, fill your container with flour, porridge oats, rice or anything you think would make a good sound. Shake it! Is the sound different now with something in the container?
