Listening games. Choose one or more of these games to play with those at home or your bubble at school.

Voices in the dark - put a cloth over your head and then someone should say "banana!" to

you. Who was it who said the word?

Outside sounds - go outside and listen very carefully to the sounds around you. See if 3

e.g.

you can identify 3 environmental sounds - e.g.

vehicles, birds, lawnmower etc

e.g.

Listening for "go!" - use a small, light object (e.g. a cotton reel or a beanbag). Every time someone says "go!", throw the object. Experiment with waiting for longer before saying

"go" and use a quieter voice to stretch listening skills.

Stop / Start Listening games - march around the 1

room with one person banging a drum or an empty

tin. Every now and again stop banging and freeze

still. Can be played with music like musical statues.

Describe a picture- In a pair, have one person describe a hidden picture for the other person to copy. See an example of picture to describe in the next box to the right.
