Here you will find two musical topics to choose from:

ON THE SEASHORE

Big waves and calm seas...get ready to play some watery themed music. The activities are all inspired by Sea Sketches by the Welsh composer Grace Williams. Our 'big musical idea' here is dynamics (playing softly or loudly)

IT TAKES TWO

Two is a magic number! The activities are all inspired by Pur Ti Miro by the Italian composer Claudio Monteverdi. It features a love duet between a King and his newly crowned Queen. Our 'big musical idea' here is call and response.

What is good about this resources is for each activity there is a multi-sensory approach given for each activity. Here is an example from the 'On the Seashore'

Multi sensory: Make your own Wave Drum

Resources:

- Big Tupperware tub (the more see-through the better)
- Granulated sugar or dried pulses - anything small that rolls is ideal

Method:

- Fill the tub so your contents just covers the bottom
- Raise the tub up so your child is looking up at bottom of tub (or adjust position to suit mobility)
- Slowly tip the tub so the contents slowly rolls from side to side when instructed to play quietly
- Alternatively sit opposite your child and share the drum holding each end or helping your child to hold it and slowly tip drum in sympathy with their movements, however small
- Quickly shake, tap and turn the tub when instructed to play loudly
- Your child may want to interact with the contents of tub. Try to model slow picking up and dropping, contrasted with quick stirring as instructed to play loudly or quietly

Within the site is mentioned the music app Clarion™. This app has been developed for people who find conventional instruments inaccessible. It works on iPad, Windows and Eyegaze computers and can be played with any part of the body. I have log in details to use for this app so please do get in touch using the details below if you would like these.

It would be wonderful to see what your child/ person in your bubble thought of the music and the activities you chose to complete. You can add your photos to Evidence for Learning or send Sarah-Grace an email at sfarrer@ellentinkham.devon.sch.uk that would be very much appreciated.
